This program is designed for nurses and other health practitioners who seek to learn more about the benefits of family health history and specifically the online tools to do so.

Upon completion, participants will be able to:

- Recognize the importance and usability of online family health history tools.
- Describe how online family health history tools can help identify possible health risks.
- List the advantages and disadvantages of using specific online tools.
- Explain how to identify and communicate with patients about sensitive health issues.

Presenters:

Brook Croke, MS,
MPH, NxGEN MDx
Genetic Counselor

Emily Rickert
Fitzgerald, JD
Bright Pink Representative

This program is being offered for 1.0 Nursing Contact Hours. Criteria for successful completion include attendance at the entire event and submission of a completed evaluation form. Partial credit will not be allowed.

i-Net (OH-350,1/1/2017) is an approved provider of continuing nursing education by the Ohio Nurses Association (OBN-001-91), an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

This program is being co-provided between i-Net and the Center for Jewish Genetics and though all tasks involved in planning and implementing this activity are shared, i-Net as the approved provider unit has maintained responsibility for key program elements.

The planning committee members and presenters have declared no conflict of interest. The presenters have agreed to present information fairly and without bias.

The DNA Day Illinois 2015 initiative is a cooperative effort of the Center for Jewish Genetics and the Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH). Funding for this program is provided by IDPH.
