REPORT NAME: SPINAL CORD INJURY

Report Purpose—

The report displays spinal cord injury counts for all Nature of Injury codes (N-codes) listed in the Report Content section, below, as delimited by user-defined selection criteria, such as date range and patient type.

Report Layout—

The report consists of four tables laid out in a column-row grid format. The first table displays counts for closed vertebral-fracture spinal cord injuries, the second for open vertebral-fracture spinal cord injuries, the third for closed non-vertebral-fracture spinal cord injuries, and the fourth for vertebral fractures without spinal cord injuries. The following samples show the report layout for the four tables, including the column and row headings. For example, in the first table, the upper leftmost cell will count 806.01 N-codes, the cell immediately below it will count 806.06 N-codes, and so on. A complete list of all N-codes by table is provided in the Report Content section.

This report counts the occurrence of a range of spinal cord injury designations, not the number of patients with a spinal cord injury. If entries have been made for more than one type of spinal cord injury for the same patient, then that patient will be counted more than once on the report.
